

Last Furlough Used In Fight For Freedom

& the circus came
& we bought tickets
& we bought tickets again

& a new rose
she rode out
with the same name & the ruins rose
but lighter & the columns fell into the frame emptier & we watched
priced accordingly
she never
arrived
& the ruins rose
& the columns fell into the frame
& we watched
& we watched
& she never

but the horse remembered the horse always remembers
what the soil held
just wanted to talk
what the street held soul to soul
but the columns had already fallen into made it frame
spectacle
free dom
free dom
free
& still the dream
& still the glamour & still the vertigo

exploring

the collapse of social norms into open sky

the Void.

rode out of the century into the century that had no name

she walks

she walks

she walks still

the loneliness

continues

without you

of wanting

& somewhere beneath
the rupture

& the circus came & the circus came & we bought tickets

& we watched
& we watched
& she never
